LAW AND INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS
at PENN STATE

Faculty
Penn State has established a new graduate School of International Affairs, the faculty, curriculum, and administration of which are deeply integrated with our School of Law. This new relationship has enriched enormously the intellectual life of our Law School and our capacity to deliver to our students a curriculum that is exceptionally rich in all aspects of cross-border and international interactions. This brochure introduces our outstanding new and existing faculty in these areas of inquiry.

PHILIP J. McCONNAUGHAY
Dean and Donald J. Farage Professor of Law
Tiyanjana Maluwa served as Legal Advisor to the Office of the UN High Commissioner for Human Rights and as the first Legal Counsel of the Organization of African Unity (now the African Union). An acclaimed scholar of public international law and international human rights law, Professor Maluwa previously held faculty appointments with the universities of Malawi, Botswana, Cape Town, and Pretoria. He has published extensively in the field of international law and international human rights law and undertaken several assignments as an expert and consultant for the United Nations, the African Union, and other international organizations. He currently serves as a member of the international jury charged with awarding the Stockholm Prize in Criminology. (Ph.D., Cambridge University; LL.M., University of Sheffield; LL.B., University of Malawi)

SELECTED PUBLICATIONS

William E. Butler is the preeminent authority on the law of Russia and other former Soviet republics and the author, co-author, editor, or translator of more than 120 books on Soviet, Russian, Ukrainian, and other Commonwealth of Independent States legal systems. The former Chair of Comparative Law at the University of London, Professor Butler is an Academician of the National Academy of Sciences of Ukraine and the Russian Academy of Natural Sciences and is serving his third term as a member of the Russian International Court of Commercial Arbitration. He recently was appointed to the Panel of Distinguished Neutrals as an arbitrator of the International Institute for Conflict Prevention and Resolution.

(LL.D., University of London; Ph.D., Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies; J.D., Harvard Law School; B.A., American University)

SELECTED BOOKS

Ambassador Dennis Jett has served as U.S. Ambassador to Peru and Mozambique; Special Assistant to the President and Senior Director for African Affairs at the National Security Council; Chief of Staff to the Under Secretary of State for Political Affairs; and Diplomat in Residence at the Carter Center in Atlanta, Georgia. Immediately prior to joining Penn State, he served as Dean of the International Center at the University of Florida. Ambassador Jett's scholarship focuses on international relations, foreign aid administration, and American foreign policy. (Ph.D., University of the Witwatersrand; M.A., B.A., University of New Mexico)

DENNIS C. JETT
Professor of International Affairs

SELECTED PUBLICATIONS

“Lessons Unlearned or Why Mozambique’s Successful Peacekeeping Operation Won’t Be Replicated,” Journal of Humanitarian Assistance (December 1995).

Ambassador Richard Butler AC has accepted appointment as Penn State’s Distinguished Scholar of International Peace and Security (beginning January 2009). A recognized expert in nuclear arms control and disarmament, Ambassador Butler currently is the Global Diplomat in Residence at the New York University’s Center for Global Affairs and a visitor with the James Martin Center for Nonproliferation Studies at the Monterey Institute of International Studies. An Australian, Ambassador Butler has held numerous senior Australian posts, including Deputy Representative at the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) and the OECD; Ambassador for Disarmament (Geneva); Ambassador to Thailand and Cambodia; Governor of Tasmania; and Ambassador and Permanent Representative to the United Nations (New York). In 2003, he was made a Companion of the Order of Australia (AC), Australia’s highest civilian honor. In 1995, he was appointed by the Prime Minister of Australia as Chairman of the Canberra Commission on the Elimination of Nuclear Weapons. At the United Nations, Ambassador Butler was Vice Chair of the World Summit on Social Development (the “Copenhagen Consensus” process); President of the Economic and Social Council; and Chair of the Working Group that created UNAIDS. In 1997, Secretary General Kofi Annan appointed him Executive Chairman of the United Nations Special Commission to disarm Iraq (UNSCOM). (B.Ec., University of Sydney; M.Ec., Australian National University)

SELECTED BOOKS

Randall Robinson is an internationally acclaimed author whose books and scholarly interests focus on U.S. foreign policy toward the Caribbean and Africa; the use of foreign policy to achieve social goals; and racial equity. Professor Robinson founded TransAfrica, which seeks to influence U.S. foreign policy toward Africa and the Caribbean, and established the Free South Africa Movement, which pushed successfully for the imposition of U.S. sanctions against South Africa and was instrumental in ending apartheid. His public advocacy on behalf of the people of Haiti spurred a multinational operation that restored Haiti’s first democratically elected government to power. Professor Robinson is the recipient of numerous humanitarian awards from organizations that include the Congressional Black Caucus, UNICEF, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, and The King Center. Henry Louis Gates calls Professor Robinson “one of the world’s foremost advocates for freedom and justice”; Cornell West calls him “a towering freedom fighter in the world of ideas and actions.” (J.D., Harvard Law School; B.A., Virginia Union University)

SELECTED BOOKS

Thomas E. Carbonneau is a scholar of international and domestic arbitration and the author of more than a dozen highly acclaimed books and seventy-five scholarly articles. He served as the editor in chief of the World Arbitration and Mediation Report for more than ten years and, during the Fouchard era, as a member of the editorial board of La Revue de L’Arbitrage. As Director of Penn State’s Institute for Arbitration Law and Practice, Professor Carbonneau co-directs the Summer Program in Arbitration Law at the McGill Faculty of Law in Montréal, Québec, Canada, and oversees publication of the Yearbook on Arbitration and Mediation. Professor Carbonneau is a former Rhodes Scholar who previously held the Moise S. Steeg Jr. professorship at Tulane University School of Law. (LL.M., J.S.D., Columbia University; M.A., J.D., University of Virginia; B.A., M.A., Oxford—Rhodes Scholar; A.B., Bowdoin)

SELECTED PUBLICATIONS

Alternative Dispute Resolution: Melting the Lances and Dismounting the Steeds, University of Illinois Press, 1989.

Catherine Rogers is a scholar of international arbitration and professional ethics who holds a joint appointment as a professor of law at Università Commerciale Luigi Bocconi in Milan, Italy. Professor Rogers is an associate reporter for the American Law Institute's Restatement of the Law of International Commercial Arbitration. She has been an invited speaker at two Stanford-Yale Junior Faculty forums and is a recipient of the CPR Professional Article Award. Professor Rogers has practiced international litigation and arbitration in San Francisco, New York, and Hong Kong. (LL.M., Yale; J.D., University of California, Hastings College of the Law; B.A., University of California, Berkeley)

CATHERINE A. ROGERS
Professor of Law

SELECTED PUBLICATIONS

Panagiotis Takis Tridimas holds a joint appointment as the Sir John Lubbock Professor of Banking Law at the University of London’s Queen Mary College. He is a distinguished scholar of European Union law, financial services, trade, and comparative constitutional law. He is the co-editor of the Yearbook of European Law, a member of the editorial board of The Company Lawyer, and general editor of the Elgar International Financial Law series. Professor Tridimas served previously as Senior Legal Advisor to the 2003 European Union presidency and taught as a Fellow of St. John’s College, University of Cambridge, and as a professor of European law at the University of Southampton School of Law in London. He is a member of the Bar of England and Wales and a member of the Greek Bar. (Ph.D., LL.M., Girton College, University of Cambridge; LL.B., University of Athens)

SELECTED PUBLICATIONS

Flynt Leverett served as Senior Director for Middle East Affairs at the National Security Council and was a charter member of the Central Intelligence Agency’s Senior Analytic Service. He directs the Geopolitics of Energy Initiative at the New America Foundation in Washington, D.C., and served previously as Senior Fellow in Foreign Policy Studies at the Brookings Institution. He is an expert in global energy issues, international political economy, and the Middle East and Persian Gulf, and he has taught courses in energy geopolitics and U.S. foreign policy in the Middle East at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Assigned to the State Department’s Policy Planning Staff in 2001, Professor Leverett earned a Superior Honor Award for his contributions to forming an international coalition to fight terror following the September 11 attacks and to the U.S. diplomatic breakthrough with Libya. (Ph.D., Princeton University; M.A., Princeton University; B.A., B.M., Texas Christian University)

SELECTED PUBLICATIONS

“To the Incoming President: On Iraq,” The American Prospect (June 2007).

Denis Simon served most recently as Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs at SUNY’s Levin Graduate Institute of International Relations and Commerce in Manhattan. Previously, he was Dean of the Lally School of Management and Technology of the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute and a member of the faculties of the Fletcher School at Tufts University and the Sloan School of Management at MIT. Professor Simon’s scholarship focuses on international and comparative business strategy, technological innovation, and global management of technology, with special reference to China and the Pacific Rim. He has established deep government, business, and academic relationships in China and is known for both his scholarly and entrepreneurial innovations. He has worked with numerous Fortune 500 firms regarding their overall strategic positioning and competitive orientation in the China market.

(Ph.D., University of California, Berkeley; M.A., University of California, Berkeley; B.A., State University of New York)

SELECTED PUBLICATIONS

John Kelmelis served most recently as Senior Counselor for Earth Science in the Office of the Science and Technology Advisor to the Secretary of State (STAS), where he provided policy advice to the White House, Department of State, and other high-level government entities on geology, hydrology, biology, geography, and related sciences and technologies in establishing and executing U.S. foreign policy. He simultaneously served as Senior Science Advisor for International Policy at the U.S. Geological Survey where he kept abreast of and advised on scientific developments with potential to influence foreign policy. Professor Kelmelis is a prolific author whose scientific, policy, and scholarly work is known throughout the academy and the world. His applied service has included reviewing engineering proposals for Iraq reconstruction; coordinating the U.S. Geological Survey (USGS) Global Change Research Program; serving as Chief Scientist for Geographic Research at the USGS; and providing scientific and technological leadership to national and international committees, including the AFRICOM Transition Team and the U.S. Department of State Working Group on Populations at Risk. (Ph.D., The Pennsylvania State University; M.S., University of Missouri at Rolla; B.A., Central Connecticut State College)

SELECTED PUBLICATIONS

“The effect of large river floods on living resources: a case study from the Upper Mississippi River Basin, USA,” U.S.-China Workshop on Natural Disaster Mitigation and Reduction, Beijing, China, 1997 [invited paper].

Laurel Terry is an expert in international and interjurisdictional regulation of the legal profession. Her recent scholarship and activities focus on issues related to the application of the World Trade Organization’s (WTO) General Agreement on Trade in Services (GATS) to legal services, the application of EU competition policy to legal services, and the effect of the Bologna Process on legal education. She serves on the International Bar Association’s (IBA) World Trade Organization Working Group and has made presentations to the WTO and United Nations on the IBA’s behalf. (J.D., University of California, Los Angeles; B.A., University of California, San Diego)

LAUREL S. TERRY
Harvey A. Feldman Distinguished Faculty Scholar and Professor of Law

SELECTED PUBLICATIONS
Philip J. McConnaughay writes in the areas of international commercial dispute resolution, the regulation of international commerce, and the role of arbitration in economic development. He is Dean of Penn State’s Dickinson School of Law, Chair of the Executive Committee of Penn State’s School of International Affairs, and a former professor of law at the University of Illinois College of Law. Prior to teaching, Dean McConnaughay practiced law for eighteen years with the international law firm Morrison & Foerster, including almost ten years as a resident partner in Tokyo and Hong Kong. His work included representing Fujitsu Limited in the IBM/Fujitsu arbitration, a multibillion dollar dispute concerning worldwide intellectual property rights in mainframe computer operating system software. Dean McConnaughay is a former advisor to the Indonesian government on issues of drafting a new arbitration law, and he has lectured on development and intellectual property issues in Vietnam, China, and Europe. (J.D., B.A., University of Illinois)

PHILIP J. McCONNAUGHAY
Dean and Donald J. Farage Professor of Law

SELECTED PUBLICATIONS
Recent Faculty Appointments and Additional International Scholars

Samuel C. Thompson Jr.
Arthur Weiss Distinguished Faculty Scholar; Director, Penn State’s Center for the Study of Mergers & Acquisitions; and Professor of Law

Professor Samuel Thompson joined Penn State from UCLA School of Law. He previously served as professor at the University of Virginia School of Law and Northwestern University Law School, as Dean of the University of Miami School of Law, and as the Jacquin D. Bierman Visiting Professor of Taxation at Yale Law School. A scholar of corporate and international tax, corporate governance, and antitrust, Professor Thompson is the author of sixteen books and more than seventy-five scholarly articles. He has worked in the tax policy office of the U.S. Department of Treasury and served as an advisor to the South African Ministry of Finance, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission, and the Federal Trade Commission. Professor Thompson’s Center for the Study of Mergers and Acquisitions co-sponsors annual M&A institutes with the New York City Bar. (LL.M., New York University; J.D., University of Pennsylvania; M.A., University of Pennsylvania; B.S., West Chester University)

John Lopatka
A. Robert Noll Distinguished Professor of Law

One of the nation’s leading antitrust scholars, Professor John Lopatka has published extensively in the areas of antitrust, economic analysis of law, and regulated industries. He is a co-author of the multivolume treatise Federal Antitrust Law and The Microsoft Case: Antitrust, High Technology, and Consumer Welfare. He was on the faculties of the University of South Carolina School of Law and the University of Illinois College of Law before joining Penn State. Prior to teaching, Professor Lopatka served as Assistant Director for Planning of the Federal Trade Commission’s Bureau of Competition and practiced law with Donovan Leisure Newton & Irvine in New York City and Isham, Lincoln & Beale in Chicago. From 2001 until 2004, he was a consultant to the Office of General Counsel of the Federal Trade Commission. (LL.M., Columbia University; J.D., University of Chicago; B.A., Loyola University of Chicago)
Professor Ellen Dannin is a scholar of privatization, labor law, and comparative labor law. Her scholarship employs a variety of methodologies that offer important perspectives in each of these fields. She is the author of Taking Back the Worker’s Law — How to Fight the Assault on Labor Rights (Cornell University Press, 2006) and Working Free: The Origins and Impact of New Zealand’s Employment Contracts Act. Professor Dannin is currently working on a book about the privatization of the Internal Revenue Service: No-Bodies Were There — Privatization and People with Disabilities. (J.D., University of Michigan Law School; B.A., University of Michigan School of Literature, Science and the Arts)

Professor Stephen Ross is a scholar of sports law, antitrust, and comparative Canadian law and Director of the Penn State Institute for Sports Law, Policy, and Research. He is the co-author of the recently published Fans of the World, Unite!, which analyzes the structure of sports leagues, and the author of Principles of the Law of Antitrust and numerous scholarly articles concerning both domestic and international sports antitrust issues and U.S. and Canadian antitrust and competition policies. Professor Ross is the former Minority Counsel to the U.S. Senate Judiciary Committee, attorney for the Antitrust Division of the U.S. Department of Justice and Federal Trade Commission, and law clerk to Judge Ruth Bader Ginsburg. His expert testimony and advice on antitrust issues in the sports arena has been sought by various governmental entities in the United States and Canada. Professor Ross joined Penn State from the University of Illinois College of Law. (J.D., Boalt Hall School of Law, University of California, Berkeley; A.B., University of California, Berkeley)

Professor Michael Foreman has joined Penn State as Director of its new Civil Rights Appellate Clinic. He is the immediate past Deputy Director of Legal Programs for the Lawyers’ Committee for Civil Rights Under Law in Washington, D.C., where he was responsible for supervising all litigation in employment discrimination, housing, education, voting rights, and environmental justice areas since 2001.
Professor Foreman was recently selected by Harvard Law School to serve as a Wasserstein Fellow, which recognizes dedicated service in the public interest field. Previously, Professor Foreman was the Acting Deputy General Counsel for the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights, where he served as the lead attorney for the commission’s investigation of the voting irregularities in the 2000 presidential election. (J.D., Duquesne University; B.A., Shippensburg University of Pennsylvania)

Kit Kinports
Polisher Family Distinguished Faculty Scholar and Professor of Law

Professor Kit Kinports is a scholar of feminist jurisprudence, criminal law, and federalism, and a former law clerk to U.S. Supreme Court Justice Harry Blackmun and U.S. Court of Appeals Judge Abner Mikva. Her most recent publications include “Criminal Procedure in Perspective” in the Journal of Criminal Law & Criminology, and new editions of her co-authored casebooks Criminal Law: Cases and Materials and Constitutional Litigation Under Section 1883. Prior to joining Penn State, she was a professor of law at the University of Illinois College of Law, where she was recognized with the institution’s highest teaching achievement award. (J.D., University of Pennsylvania; A.B., Brown University)

Jamison E. Colburn
Professor of Law

Zachary Kramer
Assistant Professor of Law

Professor Zachary Kramer is a scholar of antidiscrimination law with an emphasis on law and sexuality and work/family issues. His article “Heterosexuality and Title VII” is forthcoming in the Northwestern University Law Review, and his article “After Work” recently appeared in the California Law Review. He has been a visiting professor at the University of Illinois College of Law, a Charles R. Williams Teaching Fellow at UCLA School of Law, and a visiting scholar at the Feminist Legal Theory Project at Emory Law School. (J.D., University of Illinois; B.A., University of Wisconsin)

SHOBA SIVAPRASAD WADHIA
Director, Center for Immigrants’ Rights and Clinical Professor

Professor Shoba Sivaprasad Wadhia is Director of the Law School’s new Center for Immigrants’ Rights. Professor Wadhia is the former Deputy Director for Legal Affairs of the National Immigration Forum in Washington, D.C., where her work included providing legal expertise and policy analysis of legislative and regulatory proposals; engaging in advocacy with Congress and the administration; and leading one of the nation’s strongest nongovernmental work groups on immigrant due process and civil liberties. She has been an adjunct professor at Howard University and American University, Washington College of Law, where she taught Immigration Law and Policy and Asylum and Refugee Law. Prior to joining the National Immigration Forum, Professor Wadhia was an attorney with Maggio Kattar, P.C. in Washington, D.C. (J.D., Georgetown University Law Center; B.A., Indiana University)

JEFFREY D. MCCausland
Visiting Professor of International Law and Diplomacy

Professor Jeffrey McCausland served previously as Dean of Academics at the U.S. Army War College. A retired Colonel of the U.S. Army, Professor McCausland is a Senior Fellow at the Carnegie Council on Ethics in International Affairs based in New York City; a member of the Advisory Board to the National Committee on American Foreign Policy; and an Adjunct Fellow at the Center for Strategic and International Studies (CSIS) and the RAND Corporation in Washington. He has been a Visiting Fellow at the Center for International Affairs, Harvard University; Conflict Studies Research Center, Royal Military Academy, Sandhurst; Stiftung Wissenschaft und Politik, Ebenhausen, Germany; George C. Marshall Center for European Security Studies, Garmisch, Germany; and the International Institute for Strategic Studies, London. Professor McCausland serves as a national security consultant to CBS television and radio, and has been a frequent commentator on the war in Iraq and Afghanistan for CBS since 2003. During his military career, Professor McCausland served in a variety of command and staff positions both in the United States and Europe. (Ph.D., M.A., Tufts University; B.A., United States Military Academy—West Point)
Professor Jeffrey Kahn's scholarship has been published in both tax journals and general law reviews, such as the Hastings Law Review, Notre Dame Law Review, and the Yale Journal on Regulation. Professor Kahn has co-authored two of the nation's leading tax textbooks, Taxation of S Corporations in a Nutshell and Federal Income Tax, with University of Michigan Law School professor Douglas Kahn. He is currently working on a student treatise on corporate taxation. (J.D., University of Michigan Law School; B.A., Duke University)

David Flatto
Assistant Professor of Law

Professor David Flatto is an assistant professor of law with joint appointments in Penn State's Jewish Studies and History departments. While obtaining his doctorate in Near Eastern languages and civilization from Harvard University, he was a visiting researcher at Yale Law School and the Gruss Scholar in Residence at New York University School of Law. His scholarship appears in publications such as Yale Law Journal Pocket Part, Yale Journal of Law and Humanities, NYU Law Global Hauser Series, Hebraic Political Studies, and others. (J.D., Columbia University School of Law; Ordination, B.A., Yeshiva University)

Marie T. Reilly
Associate Dean for Academic Affairs and Professor of Law

Professor Marie Reilly is a scholar of bankruptcy and commercial law. She is an expert on fraudulent transfer law and has published articles on corporate successor liability, check kiting, sexual harassment, and the holder in due course rule. Professor Reilly's chapter “You and Me against the World: Marriage and Divorce from Creditors’ Perspective” appears in Reconceiving the Family: Critical Reflections on the American Law Institute’s Principles of the Law of Family Dissolution, which provides a comprehensive proposal for family law reform in the United States. Professor Reilly has significant practice experience with Schiff Hardin and Williams & Connolly. She is a member of the American Law Institute, the American Bankruptcy Institute, and the American Law and Economics Association. (J.D., University of Illinois, College of Law; B.A., University of Illinois)
Professor Larry Catá Backer focuses his research and teaching on globalization issues as they impact corporate, constitutional, and transnational law. He is currently working on the regulation of sovereign wealth funds, the regulation and character of multinational corporations, corporate social responsibility, constitutionalism (theocratic and secular), and the constitutionalism in the European Union and China. He is the editor of the recently published Harmonizing Law in an Era of Globalization: Convergence, Divergence, Resistance and the author of Comparative Corporate Law: United States, European Union, China and Japan. His work has been published in numerous legal journals and law reviews, including the Northwestern University Law Review, Tulane Law Review, Harvard Civil Rights-Civil Liberties Law Review, Boston College Law Review, Columbia Human Rights Law Review, Yale Journal of Law & Feminism, and the Yearbook of European Law. (J.D., Columbia University; M.P.P, Harvard University; B.A., Brandeis University)

Professor Beth Farmer researches and writes on U.S. and foreign antitrust and trade regulation law, including issues of federalism and comparative competition policy. Her recent scholarship includes “The Evolution of Chinese Merger Notification Guidelines: Integrating Global Consensus and Domestic Imperatives,” available on SSRN; “The European Experience with Merger and Deregulation,” in Competition Policy and Merger Analysis in Deregulated and Newly Competitive Industries, for which she is a co-editor; and “Global Competition: Implications for Enforcement” in Harmonizing Law in an Era of Globalization. Professor Farmer is an affiliated member of the Interdisciplinary Centre for Competition Law and Policy at Queen Mary College, University of London. She recently conducted research as a Fulbright Fellow at the University of International Business and Economics in Beijing, China. (J.D., Vanderbilt University Law School; B.A., Wellesley College)
Katrice Bridges Copeland
Assistant Professor of Law

Professor Katrice Bridges Copeland focuses her scholarship and teaching on constitutional law issues and the federal court system. Prior to joining Penn State, she was an associate with Sidley Austin LLP in Washington, D.C., where she practiced constitutional litigation and white collar criminal defense. She previously clerked for the Honorable David Coar of the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Illinois and the Honorable Damon Keith of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit. (J.D., The University of Michigan Law School; B.S., University of Illinois)

Louis F. Del Duca
Edward N. Polisher Distinguished Faculty Scholar and Professor of Law

Professor Louis F. Del Duca is a long-time scholar of commercial and comparative law and a leader in the internationalization of American legal education. He is a member of the American Law Institute and the U.S. Secretary of State’s Committee on International Trade Law and has served as President of the International Academy of Commercial and Consumer Law. Professor Del Duca is the editor of the Uniform Commercial Code Law Journal and the Pennsylvania Bar Association Quarterly, and he has been the U.S. Collaborator to the Rome International Institute for the Unification of Private Law (UNIDROIT). (Dott. Di Giur., University of Rome Law School; J.D., Harvard Law School; A.B., Temple University)

William B. Barker
Professor of Law

Professor William B. Barker is a scholar of international and comparative taxation and co-editor of the recently published The Concept of Tax. His work has appeared in the San Diego Law Review, Catholic Law Review, Case Western Reserve Law Review, Loyola (Chicago) Law Review, and the University of Pennsylvania Journal of International Law. Supported by three Fulbright Scholar grants, he has conducted research at the South African universities of Cape Town, Free State, and Witwatersrand, and the Riga Graduate School of Law, University of Latvia. In 2006, Professor Barker was awarded an ATAX Research Fellowship to visit the University of New South Wales in Sydney, Australia. He previously held a standing appointment on the Faculty of Law at the London School of Economics and Political Science and has been a visiting professor at Oxford University, the University of Vienna, and Trinity College (Dublin). (J.D., B.A., State University of New York at Buffalo)
Larry Catâ Backer
William B. Barker
Jan M. Broekman
Barbara J. Brunner
William E. Butler
Karen Bysiewicz
Thomas E. Carbonneau
Nicole Raymond Chong
Jamison E. Colburn
Lance Cole
Katherine Holtzinger Conner
Katrice Bridges Copeland
Trisha Cowart
Ellen Dannin
Louis F. Del Duca
Susan Beth Farmer
David Flatto
Michael Foreman
M. Christine Fotopulos
James R. Fox
Amy Clothier Gaudion
Gary S. Gildin
Preston C. Green III
Steven D. Hinckley
H. Brian Holland
Lucy Johnston-Walsh
Jeffrey H. Kahn
Jessica Kahn
Eileen M. Kane
Sharon Keller
Kit Kinports
Zachary Kramer
Sara Elliott Krome
Steven Lachman
John E. Lopatka
Anne M. MacDonald-Fox
Leslie M. MacRae
Tiyanjana Maluwa
Camille C. Marion
Karen Maull
Jeffrey D. McCausland
Philip J. McConnaughay
Gregory S. McNeal
Richard Mendales
Michael A. Mogill
Jane Muller-Peterson
Katherine C. Pearson
Ross Pifer
Thomas M. Place
Mary K. Polacheck
Robert E. Rains
Marie T. Reilly
Megan M. Riesmeyer
Randall N. Robinson
Catherine A. Rogers
Victor C. Romero
Stephen F. Ross
Geoffrey R. Scott
Laurel S. Terry
Samuel C. Thompson Jr.
P. Takis Tridimas
Michele Vollmer
Shoba Sivaprasad Wadhia
Nancy A. Welsh

Faculty portraits by Ian Bradshaw Photography, Cathy Meals Photography, and Dyanna Stupar.

This publication is available in alternative media on request.

The Pennsylvania State University is committed to the policy that all persons shall have equal access to programs, facilities, admission, and employment without regard to personal characteristics not related to ability, performance, or qualifications as determined by University policy or by state or federal authorities. It is the policy of the University to maintain an academic and work environment free of discrimination. The Pennsylvania State University does not discriminate against any person because of age, ancestry, color, disability or handicap, national origin, race, religious creed, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, or veteran status. Discrimination or harassment against faculty, staff, or students will not be tolerated at The Pennsylvania State University. Direct all inquiries regarding the nondiscrimination policy to the Affirmative Action Director, The Pennsylvania State University, 328 Boucke Building, University Park, PA 16802-5901; tel. 814-865-4700/V, 814-863-1150/TTY. U.Ed. DSL 09-10